3rd February 2010

Dear Commandeurs,

Our next dinner, after the Chateau Palmer, will be a tutored tasting dinner of Chateau Branaire-Ducru on Friday, 26th February 2010 at the Island Shangri-la. Patrick Maroteaux, the owner of Chateau Branaire-Ducru will be coming to Hong Kong to tutor the tasting. Chateau Branaire-Ducru does not need too much introduction. It is one of the top classified growths of Saint Julian and Patrick's wine in the last 5 years have been given extremely good review by wine critics and writers world-wide.

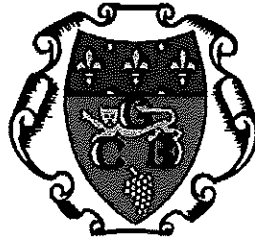

We have had Patrick coming to Hong Kong on several occasions. He normally comes as one of "Les Cinq". Now, as each of their members are getting famous international recognition, their busy schedules make them difficult to be together and therefore they are now each doing their own promotions. I would like to remind you that his previous wine maker was Philippe Dhaloul who is now the wine maker and Managing Director of Chateau Mouton.

We will be tasting Chateau Duluc 2006, Chateau Branaire-Ducru 2001, 1995, 1989 and 1982. These are all Patrick's top vintages and are rare and respected. The costs of the dinner is HK$1,450.00 for members and HK$1,550.00 for guests. This dinner is more expensive than the dinner of Chateau Palmer as the food costs in the Island Shangri-la is higher. The cost of the dinner will of course include our usual champagne reception. I hope you will come and enjoy yourselves.

Bordeaux, Toujours Bordeaux!

Yours sincerely
